Mutiny Among Federal Troops.

The mutiny which has broken out among Mexican federal soldiers near American outposts at Vera Cruz was a subject of keen interest in American official quarters, and several messages on the subject were received from General Funston, who reported that fighting between the federals and muting between the federal commander. The Mexican federal commander previously had warned General Funston that the mutineers had threatened to attack the American lines, and with this information to guide him the American general ordered his forces to be on the defensive, but not to con-sider any such irresponsible movement as an attack.

Wanted Permission to Direct Mutiny An element of humor was injected into the situation when a report of the revolutionary junta at Vera Cruz asked General Funston for permission for himself and others to go out and direct the mutiny. Reporting his refusal of this request, the general said no incidents had been reported from the outposts. He added that trains had made the trips back and forth between Temblade-Ras and Vera Cruz.
Passengers estimated that the forces engaged in quelling the mutiny numbered 1,500, but General Functon thought the number was exaggerated.

Clinton, Conn., July 7.—Traffic on the Shore Line branch of the New Haven railroad was blocked for a time by a collision between an eastbound freight train and a handcar near the Grove Beach station late today. No one was injured. The engine of the freight was derailed and thrown on its side, three coal cars and a boxcar were smashed and two other coal cars over-turned. The engineer and fireman stuck to their cab and crawled out unhurt afterwards. The freight train was in charge of Conductor Hyde and Engineer Wilson. The handcar belonged to a section gang at work near by.

On the handcar were two steel rails.
One of these rammed the locomotive in such a manner that the engine was thrown several feet into the air before landing with its tender on its side in some marshy land on the south side of the tracks. The roadbed was torn up and the rails bent and twisted. One car loaded with coal was thrown cross-wise of the tracks, effectually blocking traffic. The wrecker sent from New Haven had the westbound track cleared for traffic early in the evening, but it was believed that the task of repairing the eastbound line would consume the greater part of the night. Newport, R. I. July 7.—Thick weather this forenoon prevented the cup class yachts, Defiance, Resolute and Vanitie from sailing their first trial race, which was to have been held by the Eastern Yacht club. If the weather is more propitious tomor-row the yachts will go out, although the sea outside at sunset tonight was sufficient to keep all but the staunch-est coastwise craft in snug harbors.

Defiance Felt the Full Force. One of the largest fleets of yachts seen in Newport harbor for several years rode out the storm without trouble, as the heft of the blow was trouble, as the heft of the blow was from the southwest. The Resolute and Vanitie were at anchor in Brenton's cove well under the lee of Fort Adams when the storm broke last night, but the Defiance was at a mooring off the toppedo station and this forenoon was feeling the full force of the gale as it drove up Narragansett bay. The big mahonany boat rocked and tugged at her anchor chain so lively that this afternoon her tender took her in tow and gave her smoother water well inside the Resosmoother water well inside the Reso

CARRANZA PIRST CHIEF,

VILLA SUBORDINATE me of the Torreon Conferen Villa Hopes Compact Will be Kept.

Torreon, Mexico, July 7—General Venustiano Carranza has been recognized as first chief of the constitutionalist revolution and General Francisco Villa is subordinate to him. This confirmation of the relative positions of Carranza and Villa was regarded as the most important step taken at the internal peace pariey here intended to reunite the Villa and Carranza factions.

In settling this point, the question of supplying the division of the north, which Villa commands, with coal and ammunition probably will find an au-tomatic solution. While Villa owes ammunition probably will find an automatic solution. While Villa owes Carranza absolute subordination, Carranza on the other hand is obliged to meet the wants of the Villa troops. The conference is ended so far as vital points are concerned. The statement was made today that the result of the meetings were satisfactory. General Villa said today:
